SCHOOL REPORT.

GENERAL REMARKS.

SUGGESTIONS TO PARENTS.

There is a special necessity at the present time that parents should afford teachers all possible aid in their work. In most of our districts we can secure the services of a teacher only for a very few weeks. It is therefore desirable that they should labor to the best advantage while employed, but they cannot do this unless there is perfect harmony between parents and teachers. If parents are not fully satisfied with the course pursued by teachers, it is desirable that the difficulty should be speedily adjusted. The proper course to be taken in such a case is, to go at once to the teacher and make a plain statement of the matter, in kind and respectful terms. In most cases, this will be sufficient; for a misunderstanding is generally the sole cause of the difficulty. The teacher does not understand the wishes of the parent, or the parent does not understand the mode of procedure adopted by the teacher, and nothing is needed on either side except a few words of explanation.

In the very few cases in which this course will not secure the end in view, the matter should be referred to the Superintending Committee; but this should seldom if ever be done, without a previous consultation with the teacher.

Another part of the obligation of parents, is to manifest an interest in the mental progress of their children. To do this, you must watch over them yourselves, and not leave the whole care of their education to others. You should exhibit, at least, as much interest in their intellectual development, as you do in the growth of your cattle and your pigs. And will not such an interest lead you to visit your schools, and especially to be present examination days? Will it not also lead you to provide longer terms of instruction, and, in some instances, more suitable school-houses?

HINTS TO TEACHERS.

As some who have taught in this town the past year may teach again in some of our schools, and as some, now pupils, will soon be teachers, it may not be inappropriate to give a few hints in this report in regard to the proper mode of teaching. The work of the teacher does not consist merely in reading questions from a book, and securing correct answers in the language of the book. It is very proper for pupils to recite in the language of their text-books, but it is not sufficient for them to do this without a definite understanding of every word which is employed. The object of teaching is not to impart unintelligible sounds, but ideas.

The word imaginary, for instance, is a hard word for young pupils, and many of those who are taught to use it do not know the difference between an imaginary line and a fish line. They are taught that the equator is an imaginary line, etc., but they cannot tell whether a ship is or is not liable to be obstructed by it in its passage from north to south latitude.

They are also taught to define the poles of the earth, yet, in many instances, they get no definite idea of what is meant by the word poles, and they would be unable to tell the difference between the north-pole and a liberty-pole or a bean-pole.

Such evils cannot be remedied entirely by even the best of text-books. The work must be done chiefly by teachers. They must see not merely that words are correctly pronounced and accurately remembered, but also that the idea conveyed by every word is clearly understood. To do this they must employ many explanations and illustrations of their own, in addition to those which they find in their text-books. They must also make a free use of dictionaries, charts, and black-boards.

DUTY OF PRUDENTIAL COMMITTEES.

It is one part of the duty of Prudential Committees to inform the Superintending Committee of the time appointed for the commencement and close of each term. It is desirable that this duty should be seasonably performed, since inconvenience, or absence from an examination, will sometimes result from a failure on this point.

CHANGE OF DISTRICTS.

In accordance with the provisions of a new statute, the districts formerly known as Nos. 4, 7, and 9, have been united to form one new district, and will be known in future as No. 4. This reduction in the number of districts required one more change, which has been effected by the decision that No. 8 shall hereafter be known as No. 7. In this report the districts will be specified according to their former numbers.

DISTRICT No. 1.

Teachers—First term, Miss RUTH H. MITCHELL; second term, Miss HENRIETTA M. DENNISON. Whole No. of scholars—first term, 29; second term, 28. Average attendance—first term, 23; second term, 16. Length of school—first term, 10 weeks; second term, 10 weeks.

Good order and systematic arrangements were specially noticeable the first term. The success of the teacher was such as to increase her previous excellent reputation. Parents and children must regret, so far as their own interests are concerned, the "higher call" which has transferred her from the school-room to the domestic circle.

The Winter school was very pleasant and profitable, except when it was interrupted by unfavorable weather. Some of the pupils showed at the examination that they had been steadily progressing in their studies for several terms past. All performed their parts well.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

Teacher—Miss MARY A. PARKER. Whole No. of scholars—first term, 42; second term, 40; third term, 30. Average attendance—first term, 40; second term, 35; third term, 23. Length of school—first term, 8 weeks; second term, 10 weeks; third term, 6 weeks.

This school has enjoyed the advantages of having a good teacher and a good school-house, and, as might be expected, there has been a good school. The general improvement of the pupils has also been promoted by the Sabbath School, which has been sustained most of the year, and has contributed to the intellectual as well as the moral progress of the children.

DISTRICT NO. 3.

Teacher—Miss SARAH F. HOLMES. Whole No. of scholars—first term, 19; second term, 31. Average attendance—first term, 15; second term, 23. Length of school—first term, 7 weeks; second term, 8 weeks.

The teacher of this school deserves much commendation. She labored faithfully for the good of the school, and that, a part of the time, under unfavorable circumstances.

The exercises on examination day at the close of the second term were very interesting. There were good recitations, good speaking, and good singing.

DISTRICT NO. 4.

Teacher—Miss MARY DOE. Whole number of scholars, first term, 42; second term, 25. Average—attendance, first term, 26; second term, 18. Length of school—first term, 13 weeks; second term 10 weeks.

Miss Doe is too well known as a teacher to need any recommendation. She always performs her part in the most acceptable manner. The school was as successful as it could be with no better accommodations.

DISTRICT NO. 5.

Teachers—First term, Miss SUSIE E. MARTIN; second term, Miss GEORGIA F. AUSTIN. Whole No. of scholars—first term, 11; second term, 16. Average attendance—first term, 8; second term, 15 5-21.

Miss Martin left the school in District No. 2, where she had commenced the Summer term as a pupil, to take the place of teacher in this school. She soon appeared to be at home in her new position. She taught in such a manner as to give good satisfaction to the district, and to secure a good examination.

Miss Austin has taught several terms in a neighboring town. She is one of those teachers whom we had better keep in our own town if we can. One very interesting exercise at the examination was that of repeating the names of the States, with their characteristics.

DISTRICT No. 6.

Teachers—First term, Miss MARY P. FOSS; second term, Mr. WARREN C. SALTMARSH. Whole No. of scholars—First term, 17; second term, 17. Average attendance—First term, 11; second term, 15. Length of school—First term, 9 weeks; second term, 9 weeks.

Both teachers commenced their work without previous experience in teaching, yet they were successful in their efforts, and they give promise of much usefulness in this work should they continue to engage in it. Some of the older scholars in this school are quite advanced in arithmetic, having gone through, or nearly through, their text-books.

DISTRICT No. 7.

Teacher—Miss CORDELIA A. SANBORN. Whole No. of scholars—first term, 44; second term, 31. Average attendance—first term, 33; second term, 22. Length of school—first term, 10 weeks; second term, 14 weeks.

This school is still in progress. Miss Sanborn is a very thorough and systematic teacher. If pupils under her care have ever made any complaint, it has been that she is too strict in requiring accurate recitations, and good deportment. Such complaints are highly complimentary to the teacher.

DISTRICT No. 8.

Teacher—Miss BELL A. AUSTIN. Whole No. of scholars 18. Average attendance, 15. Length of school, six weeks.

This school appeared much better at the examination than could be expected of any school which is so very short. One thing specially worthy of notice is that cube-root was thoroughly explained by the teacher, and seemed to be in some measure, understood by the class.

DISTRICT No. 9.

Teacher—Miss HENRIETTA M. DENNISON. Whole number of scholars, 24. Average attendance, 20. Length of school, eleven weeks.

The fact that the teacher of this school was engaged near the close of the term to teach in a neighboring district, expresses all that needs to be said in regard to her reputation as a teacher. The school appeared well at the examination. It would have appeared better during the term if there had been less rudeness on the part of some scholars.
